Joe has just had his first tablet and the digital world that opens up in front him attracts him as the El Dorado attracts gold diggers. Determined to make the most of the digital world, Joe makes every possible mistake by giving his passwords to strangers, providing his bank account numbers to touch an inheritance, publishing his most intimate secrets, in short, things are going badly! Fortunately for him, Bizz, his hyperactive fly friend, will give him advice that will help him tame the digital universe safely, while developing his critical thinking so that he can fly on his own.
