This show is about real kids, doing real things and suffering real consequences at "Harding Elementary School in Anytown U.S.A.". Their problems are not imagined or fantasized. Being kids they see even the most trivial occurrences as life or death struggles. Simple issues become magnified into complex difficulties. In this "Seinfeld'ian" world, the smallest event is exaggerated to its most comical conclusion. The students in room 402 do dumb stuff, impulsive stuff, silly stuff. They make poor choices and rarely think of the possible results. When temptation rears its tantalizing head, these kids always grad it.
